

Code of Ethics

Aged & Community Services Western Australia Inc.

As a professional industry peak body, Aged & Community Services Western Australia (ACSWA) expects all Members to abide by its Code of Ethics.

Through its Code of Ethics, ACSWA aims to ensure that all Members contribute to the high reputation of the industry through:

- a commitment to participate in and contribute to the activities of ACSWA;
- a commitment to uphold the terms and conditions contained within their formal agreements;
- a commitment to support the work of ACSWA in bringing important industry issues to the forefront of government and corporate discussion;
- a commitment to manage their organisation's interactions with the aged and community services industry in a manner that supports the principles and work of ACSWA and promotes integrity of the aged and community care industry.

Members of ACSWA shall (where applicable to membership type):

- support the peak body in its endeavours to lobby government by commenting on and providing feedback on various issues as requested by ACSWA from time to time;
- commit to communicating with members in a professional and supportive manner;
- advise ACSWA of any known issues that may hinder or affect the reputation of the peak body or the Corporate Supporter packages and/or attract unfavourable media comment or coverage.